"In just a moment," said the thin grey man, "you will see a man living through the happiest moment of his life. The inner nest was free-form. The New Amsterdamites had allowed it to stay pretty much the way." "Do you mean it?" Barry asked, marveling over Marvin's tattoo as they shook hands. He managed to time it. Barrow St being right in the middle of one of the city's worst slums, Barry had been prepared (he'd thought) for a lesser degree of stateliness and bon ton than that achieved by Partyland, but even so the dismal actuality of Intensity Five went beyond anything he could have imagined. A cavernous one-room basement apartment with bare walls, crackly linoleum over a concrete floor, and radiators that hissed and gurgled ominously without generating a great deal of heat The furniture consisted of metal folding chairs, most of them folded and stacked, a refreshment stand that sold orange juice and coffee, and a great many freestanding, brimful metal ashtrays.
